

CITY OF FORT LAUDERDALE UPDATE

Dear Neighbors,

This Sunday, June 30, Fort Lauderdale will host the Panthers Championship Parade and celebration, bringing a lot of excitement and activity to our community, especially on the barrier island and Fort Lauderdale Beach.

However, due to the influx of parade-goers, increased traffic and gridlock should be expected throughout the City and in the downtown area, where parking garages are expected to fill up quickly.

All residents, not just those near the beach, should expect an increase in traffic even if you do not plan to attend the parade. If you are planning to drive in these areas, please be prepared for significant delays.

Road closures on the barrier island will go into effect starting as early as 8:30 a.m. on Sunday, making it even more challenging to move around. While residents and local traffic will still have access to those areas, we strongly urge you to plan ahead and complete any regular Sunday activities, such as grocery shopping, by Saturday or wait until Monday.

We thank you for your patience as we celebrate the Florida Panthers' historic achievement. All eyes will be on Fort Lauderdale this weekend!

Information on road closures, parking and additional transportation options will be shared at fortlauderdale.gov/panthers.
